mountain in Mallorca. A its top you can currently find a military base with a radar cupula. This is due to an agreement signed in 1954 between Spain and the United States as a result of the Cold War. It stands at a height of 1436 m since, for the military installation, the mountain had to be lowered 9 m. This is in spite of the fact that nowadays everyone still says that the 'official' height of the 'Puig Major' is 1445 m. The easiest way to get there is by boat, but it is also possible to get there by car along a winding road with lots of turns that offers spectacular views of the entire Serra de Tramuntana. Many people choose to ride there on bicycle.
